Is the additional price from the September decision the same as the base price introduced in November?

For: Paušalni obrt · Obrtnici · j.d.o.o. · d.o.o.

Verified by an official source · Reviewed: 2026-11-27

Applicability: Depending on the scope of the Pravilnik, the type of goods or service, the sales channel and the date first offered.

For November, check the new Pravilnik on base prices and the repeal of the earlier decision on displaying an additional price. The new obligation has its own categories, reference dates and display rules.

When this applies

For each product, record the type of goods, the date first offered and the relevant reference date. Check separate sources for any other obligation, such as displaying prices during a promotion.

Practical steps

Keep base prices, regular prices and previous prices used for price reductions separate in your product records.

Business example

The trader bases a template on a repealed decision and displays a historical price without classifying the goods. Before printing, it checks the rule in Article 3 of the Pravilnik and records the basis used for each product.

Specific next steps

1. Keep base prices, regular prices and previous prices used for price reductions separate in your product records.

Limits of application

Depending on the scope of the Pravilnik, the type of goods or service, the sales channel and the date first offered.
