How to set up a j.d.o.o. or d.o.o. online?

For: limited liability company and limited company

Applicability: According to the stated scope and the official source

For the electronic incorporation of a company, the official websites refer to START and the e-Court Register. Before commencing the procedure, check the access requirements and prepare the information on the founders, the management and the planned business activities.

Registration and getting started are not the same task.

Alongside the company's founding information, prepare an initial budget and a description of the business model. Plan who is authorised to sign, who will maintain the documentation, and how the company will receive and execute payments.

Choose the digital procedure based on the actual circumstances, not just on the speed of the advertisement for the incorporation service. For special founding relationships or different conditions, check the appropriate procedure before submission.

How to prepare this in your business

Alongside the company's founding information, designate the owner of each task after incorporation: banks, accounting, necessary authorisations, contracts and digital systems. Record what the prerequisite is for the first task so that the start is not held up by unresolved access issues or documents.

If you are setting up a company with a partner, set out your business expectations before the process: contributions to the work, decision-making, financing and how to resolve differences. Use appropriate professional assistance to legally structure your mutual relationships.

Example of an independent founder

Before applying, prepare your registration details, a list of your initial contracts, your accounting costs and the cash you need to get started. This ensures that upon completing the registration you are ready to do business.

Specific next steps

1. Specify the founders, the management, the registered office and the planned activities.
2. Compare the conditions of the supported electronic procedure.
3. Prepare the necessary credentials, documents and payments.
4. After enrolment, arrange the operational start-up and accounting support.

Most common mistakes

• Replace the base capital with the entire initial budget.

• To set up a company without agreed monitoring of documentation and obligations.

Limits of application

For specific procedures, please check your company's terms and documentation.
