How can I check if I'm eligible for support?

For: Trading company · limited liability company · limited company

Practical business guidance · Reviewed: 2026-11-15

Applicability: Not tied to a statutory date

The conditions are verified in accordance with the official invitation and amendments, for a specific business status.

Check the conditions before submitting your application.

Read the official call together with the guidelines, annexes, questions and answers and published amendments. Distinguish between the applicant's requirements, the project requirements and the costs: meeting one part does not mean that the application is acceptable as a whole.

Note the criteria that may exclude your business or company: activity, location, length of operation, employment, previous support and the timing of the expense. If there are any ambiguities, request clarification through the official call channel.

How to prepare this in your business

In the checklist, enter the exact call title, the version of the guidelines, the deadline and the evidence for each key criterion. Indicate whether the requirement is met by a document or if you are merely assuming it. This makes it easier to decide whether it is worth investing time in a full application.

If a condition is unclear, ask the support provider before the official deadline for enquiries. Keep the response with the call materials and compare it with any subsequent amendments to the documentation.

An example of digitalisation

The call funds the software but requires a certain number of employees and does not cover costs incurred before the application. The title of the topic corresponds to the project, but that does not mean that the applicant and the procurement plan are appropriate.

Specific next steps

1. Check the shape, location, employment and activity.
2. Check the costs, dates and co-financing.
3. Note the deadline and ask the provider any questions.

Most common mistakes

• Purchase equipment before checking the eligibility period.

• Compare only the call title and the name of your own project.

Limits of application

This version contains neither a list of confirmed open tenders nor any promises of approval.
